

"The Tumbler ... oh, you wouldn't be interested in that." – Morgan Freeman as Lucius Fox

THE BATMOBILE BEGINS

No matter which Batman he grows up on, at some point in a guy's life he says, "I wish I had a Batmobile." Meet Bob Dullam from Kalamazoo. He made that dream come true by building his own, just like Daniel. Like the Landspeeder and R2D2, this is a fully functional car and was built entirely by Bob himself, working from photos as well as the movie Batman Begins.

Obviously Bob is very talented. Originally a computer programmer, he is now a self-employed propmaker who works for collectible companies, private collectors and amusement parks, as well as film and TV. When he's not building the ultimate guy toys, he's busy weightlifting, running and jamming out with his band, SoundXcape (www.soundxcape.com).
